SYNOPSIS & TONE

This documentary will follow the journey of a regional MMA fighter, Cameron Cook, who has battled through drug issues and other troublesome moments in life. As he's struggled through the darkness, he's been knocked down but doesn't know when to quit, because after all he's a fighter. Over the span of two fights we will get an in-depth look into his life and what it takes to find balance as a fighter and family man.

The two tones for this movie will switch between frantic and griddy displaying the hard nosed fighting side of Cameron and then to his family side where life in general seems to be a little less dark and noisy. He is a small town guy working a job to provide for his family and his kids are his main purpose and motivators. We intend for this to be a huge focus in the story and something that will show the warmth that Cameron has within.
